

12 PEOPLE PERISH, 20 HURT AS FIRE SWEEPS TENEMENT

Hundred Trapped On Upper Floors Of Five-story House In N. York.

THRILLING RESCUES IN FIGHTING BLAZE

Most Of Victims Are Women And Children; Entire Family Perishes.

New York, April 27.—Twelve persons perished and 20 were injured in a fire which swept through the upper floors of the five-story tenement house at 69 East 149th st. early today. Most of the victims were trapped in their sleep by the flames which rolled on the building with amazing rapidity.

Three alarms were turned in in rapid succession, but before the firemen reached the scene the whole part of the structure was a seething mass of flames.

Ambulances were called from Mount Sinai and other hospitals and first-aid was given in the street to the most serious of the injured.

Two victims died in Mount Sinai hospital.

Bodies of most of the other victims were found on the fourth and fifth floors.

Women And Children Die

Most of the victims were women and children. One family was annihilated. This was the family of Mr. and Mrs. Cook, both of whom were burned to death along with their two children, Bertha, aged 12 and David, aged 19.

Mrs. Mandelbaum and her six children met death on the top floor. The young victims were, Minnie, 15; Michael, 12; Norris, 10; Benjamin, 8; Alexander, 4, and a baby boy, aged 18 months. An unidentified dead woman was found to Mrs. Braunstein, a tenant on the third floor.

Police reserves were rushed to the scene along with the firemen and they took part in many thrilling rescues. Despite the early hour a large crowd soon collected and police lines had to be established to hold back the curious from the danger zone.

Hysterical women impeded the work of the firemen who were administering first-aid to the injured.

Firemen, immediately upon their arrival, tried to drag lines of hose through the house but found the stairways cut off. This was responsible for the large death toll on the upper floors. The tenants upon the fourth and fifth floors found their escape by the stairway cut off when they were aroused from sleep.

Neighbors Flee In Terror

Billowing clouds of flames, sparks and smoke pouring from the roof and windows aroused the neighborhood and the residents of nearby tenements fled in terror fearing the fire would spread.

One of the persons rescued by the firemen and police was a 75-year-old woman. She was paralyzed and helpless. A policeman helped her calling feebly from her bed. He made his way through the smoke, picked her up and carried her safely to the street. Aside from fright she was not hurt.

The tenement housed 29 families, or about 120 persons in all. As the blaze apparently originated at the stairway a theory was advanced that it may have been incendiary in origin.

CHARGES AGAINST "BABE" RUTH ARE DROPPED BY GIRL

Papers Served As Plaintiff Produced Evidence Of a Conspiracy.

New York, April 27.—As attorneys for George Herman "Babe" Ruth, famous ball player, were about to produce a witness in court today to sustain an allegation that the $50,000 suit against Ruth by Miss Dolores Dixon was the result of a conspiracy, they were served with papers dropping the suit.

Miss Dixon had charged Ruth with seduction and alleged he was the father of her child.

Hyman Bushnell, Ruth's attorney, had received permission of the court to present the testimony of Robert McChesney, a young man who formerly lived in the apartment occupied by Miss Dixon and the married couple with whom she made her home.

The papers serving notice that her suit was dropped were signed by Miss Dixon, Mrs. B. D. Escho, her guardian, and George Seiberg, her attorney.

In a statement to newspapermen Ruth's lawyer said: "I told reporters when the case first started that it was blackmail. Now I shall prove it. I have a confession signed by plaintiffs and witnessed to as notary public by Mr. Sinberg, her attorney, that Babe Ruth is not the father of her child and that he never seduced her.

"The information I have I shall turn over to the proper authorities for action. Just what action we shall take depends upon Ruth's orders."

STUDENTS PRESENT DEMONSTRATION OF PUBLIC SPEAKING

A VARIED PROGRAM OF UNUSUAL MERIT

Readings, Impromptu Talks, Pianologue And One Act Play Given.

For the first time in the history of the Salem High school, a demonstration of ability was given by members of the public speaking department at the school auditorium Thursday night. The program consisted of readings, salesmanship talks, impromptu talks, a pantomime and a one act play.

Miss Ruth Kent made the opening address and introduced the speakers. Miss Kent explained that speech making and debating were studied during the first semester and readings and dramatics the last semester of the school year. Every one on the program was worthy of great credit as each number was appealing and rendered in a sincere manner.

This program was given. Reading, "Jane," taken from Tarkington's "Seventeen." Miss Nellie Haldeman; salesmanship talk, Raymond Lowry; reading, "How the Old Horse Won the Bet," Loren Herbert; impromptu talk, Miss Florence Hoffmaster. Miss Hoffmaster's talk was based upon what America can do to bring about world peace. The topic was drawn at random. Miss Hoffmaster having made no previous preparation.

Miss Esther Frederick gave two pianologues, with Miss Eleanor Toieron as her accompanist. Lloyd Loon presented his senior address at this time, his subject being on national and personal morals.

Present Pantomime

The audience was kept in doubt for a time during a part of the program when a pantomime was presented. It was not until the camera man came on the scene that the majority of the audience realized that the pantomime was a demonstration of motion picture making, preceded by a rehearsal act. Each of the characters was so efficient that words were not necessary in putting across the full meaning of the production.

"A Bed-time bear story" was capably told by Miss Ethel Fluckiger. The concluding number of the program was a one act play in which the characters were Kenneth Zeigler, Vernon Broomall and Mary Cosgrove. Kenneth and Vernon played the parts of Irishmen confined to a poorhouse. Their adopted brogue and their quarrelsome natures as called for in the production made the play highly entertaining but difficult to portray. Miss Mary Cosgrove as relative displayed with ease the spirit and humor of the Irish woman.

The public speaking department of the Salem High school composed of Junior and Senior students with but few exceptions where Sophomores of extraordinary talent are admitted. L. D. Drennen has charge of this department and the program given Thursday night shows that the students are making the most of the advantages offered through public speaking training.

Bayard Grangers Break Lock On School To Hold Meetings

The village of Bayard, in the southwestern part of Columbiana county, is looking on while two factions contend for their rights in the Bayard school, where the grangers have met twice a month for several years.

Use of the school house has been denied the grange by the school board by the action of three members living in the village, while two members of the board are farmers and supporters of the grange. The Columbiana county courts, in a decision given recently, upheld the rights of the farmers to use the building.

In the meanwhile, the school board keeps the school locked tight. Twice a month, the grangers break into the building by breaking the locks or prying open windows, all on the advice of the Columbiana county prosecutor, according to W. O. Bower, who is a granger and member of the school board.

Bower said that the grange has never missed a regular meeting in the school room since the court was appealed to and handed down a favorable decision.

The unique deadlock between village dwellers and farmers is arousing a considerable interest in Bayard and surrounding communities.

OHIO LEGISLATORS CONFER ON PLANS TO OVERRIDE VETO

Strong Sentiment Develops To Let Things Stand Until January.

Columbus, April 27.—Despite conferences of senate and house leaders and numerous group meetings of senators and representatives this morning, a definite plan of action by the Republican majority relative to the question of passing a bill over Gov. Donahey's veto had not been decided upon at noon.

A strong sentiment developed in the house in favor of passing no measures at all over the governor's veto, but to leave things as they are until next January. Senate leaders announced that no legislative measures will be considered at this time, although there quite possibly will be action on some of the "program" bills favored by the majority, primarily the Tatt tax bill.

The legislature is expected to be bombarded with requests to make up the $1,003,300 slashed from the general appropriation bill by Gov. Donahey.

The largest single cut included the entire building budget of $1,728,000 for Ohio State university, which the governor disapproved because, instead of being specifically itemized as required by law, it was "lumped together."

Kills University Bills

The governor vetoed the specific appropriation of $258,000 for an addition to the archaeological building at Ohio State, also. All salary increases for the presidents of the state educational institutions were disapproved. The governor cannot veto parts of items, he struck out the entire appropriations for salaries for the presidents of Kent and Bowling Green normal schools and Miami and Ohio universities, and will recommend that the emergency board transfer bonds to take of the salaries.

The governor also vetoed building appropriations of $365,000 at Miami, $400,000 at Ohio university, Athens; $175,000 at Kent normal and $275,000 at Bowling Green normal.

Among the bills permitted by the governor to become law by lapse of time are the Freeman-Collister motor bus regulation measure; the Hunt bill providing for construction of a $4,000,000 state office building; the Atwood sewer rental bill and the Knapp bill legalizing the use of branch registrars of motor vehicles under the secretary of state.

Housing Shortage Hinders Expanding Operations Here

Assembling Plant In Cleveland Is Possibility As Salem Concern Faces Problem Of Housing Men—Will Build Another Commissary To Quarter 250 Employees.

The Mullins Body Corporation may build an assembling plant in Cleveland, according to C. C. Gibson, vice president and secretary. Mr. Gibson described the Cleveland plant as "a possibility, although not as yet a probability."

It is becoming necessary for the company to consider building a branch factory in some other city where a larger labor supply is available. Mr. Gibson said. The plant here is employing about 1,300 men, of whom about 250 are living in a hastily erected commissary, such is the shortage of homes.

The company is about to erect an other commissary to quarter 250 more workers. These men are being brought in from Cleveland, New York, Pittsburgh and other cities but the town only holds a normal 11,000 persons and every house is filled. By summer the plant will have 1,500 to 2,000 on its pay roll.

Probably no other industrial plant in this section has so difficult a labor problem as the Mullins company just now. Were the plant a slowly growing organization it might be able to enlarge the size of the city in proportion to its need for labor, but with its force increasing as rapidly as it has been and with houses costing what they do, the problem seems to have no solution short of a temporary resort to the commissary plan as if it were some big construction job.

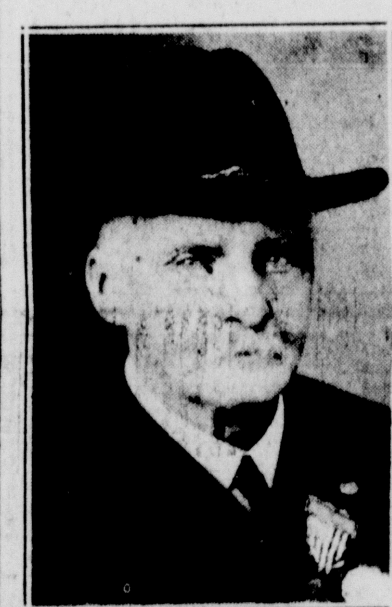

The company manufactures automobile body parts, not complete automobiles, including, it is said, every passenger car producer in Cleveland have one. About 35 per cent of the business is with automobile companies, the rest in the original sheet metal lines, such as boats and architectural ornament.

A branch plant would be designed for finishing processes on stamped steel automobile body parts. Only in this sense would it be an assembling plant.

Officials do not yet see any letup in the demand from automobile companies. Orders now on the books will keep the plant running at its present rate until October.

Sheet steel is difficult to obtain and can only be had in orders placed far ahead. The company buys sheets wherever it can get them, from mills in Cleveland, Youngstown, Warren, Newton Falls, Pittsburgh, Elyria, Mansfield and several other centers of the sheet industry.

Youth And The Bible

A CLASS of 139 students at the University of Nebraska was recently quizzed on its knowledge of the Bible. The results of that questionnaire are astounding, even when it is assumed that ignorance of the Old and New Testaments is widespread among Americans of the younger generation. Of these Nebraska students 7 per cent could not name a single book of the Old Testament. Less than half of them could name ten books. Eight and one-half per cent could not name one book of the New Testament. "Xerxes" was given as the name of an Old Testament book. Fourteen named "Hezekiah" as one of the "Books of Moses."

If this is the state of things among a body of young men and women the majority of whom come from the farms, one wonders what to expect from a similar questionnaire taken by students who have been more exposed to the influences of the jass epoch.

The strange thing about this neglect of the Bible is that in so many ways it is the sort of book that fits the mood and the mental habit of the present younger generation. If it were only now discovered and appearing from the presses for the first time it would claim their ardent attention. Perhaps for the very reason that it is a book of such ancient and revered tradition it is regarded inhospitably by young minds.

Young people of today like realism. They like to hear the truth told about men and women.

Where more than in the Bible will they find these likes of theirs reflected? The realism of the Bible is one of the sources of its strength. The biographer of Solomon lost no chance to make him appear the greatest man of his time, but he did not gild him over. How few men could tell the story of David and Jonathan without mawkishness! But the Old Testament writer set is down with restraint that yet had room for beauty and depth of feeling.

Nothing is more certain than that youth will find the Bible again. No other work has the same vitality. The Book of Ruth will be read when the Pyramids are dust.

MIGHT BE TERMED SALT FARM

Salton Region of California Is Devoted to the Production of That Indispensable Article.

Passing through that portion of California known as the "Salton" one sees stretched out below him long rows of what appear to be haycocks of a curious design. These constitute a part of what is called the "salt farm," and the haycocks are in reality great cones of salt. Upon investigation one will find that the basin of land into which he is gazing is between 200 and 300 feet below the level of the sea and that something like a thousand acres of this land are covered with a vast deposit of salt.

Each year there are removed more than 2,000 tons of salt. The salt is first plowed into ridges, then piled into conical heaps, eventually going to the drying house. From this it proceeds to the crushing mill.

It is an easy matter to mistake this area for a field of snow, because it is almost pure white. If one did not know that snow does not fall in that quarter. The supply of salt is being constantly renewed by deposits from the waters of salt springs flowing into this basin.

To remove the salt the services of Indian workmen are utilized, since these are the only men who can withstand the terrific heat and the glare of the June sun, for it is in that month that the work is done. The temperature often reaches 150 degrees.

BEAUTIFUL IN ITS RUINS

Historic Melrose Abbey Has Been Praised by Every Visiting Student of Architecture.

Melrose abbey was a beautiful abbey—now in ruins—on the bank of the River Tweed, Scotland, 40 miles south-west of Edinburgh. It was founded by David I. (1124-1153) for the Cistercian monks in 1136, and became the mother church of the order in that country. After being twice damaged by the English, it was rebuilt in a style of increased magnificence between the years 1322 and 1505, but was again devastated by the English under the earl of Hertford, in 1545, and was totally ruined during the Scotch reformation. Since that time no attempt at restoration has been made, and the ruins have served as a quarry for the neighboring town of Melrose.

The ruined church is all that remains at the present day. It is greatly admired for the beauty of its architecture, which belongs to the Second Pointed style. Melrose abbey is the burial place of Michael Scott, the Wizard of the Lady; Alexander II, and Johanna, his queen; William Douglas, the "Dark Knight," and the second abbot, St. Waltheof. The heart of Robert Bruce is said to be buried before the high altar.

Fear Is the Cause of "Knocking"
When a competitor knocks you—pity him. Try not to be contemptuous even of the man who comes to you "knocking" somebody else. It is because he is afraid of himself, his goods and his house that he directs attention to another.
The long-eared animal in lion's skin must indeed bray loudly—if at all.
It would pay us to put "knockers" on the pay-roll—if they were dependable. But their business life is short. They are not profitable to their employees nor to themselves. They are on the "outside." Very soon they either learn better methods or disappear. Occasionally one hobs along the river of doubt for years—but never gets anywhere.
On the other hand, our hats should be off—our hands out and our hearts open to the competitor who bests us. He is our truest friend—for he has taught us something.
We learn when "seeking," not "knocking."
"Dirt" is cheap anyway, and the fellow who throws it can't keep his own hands clean.
This is our answer to our erstwhile friends and others, also that business is better in every way on each succeeding day with us.

Recovering Tar Products.

A combination distillation and burning process in which the tar products are driven off from coal before being burned under boilers, is now being introduced in Germany. Coal from the bunker is fed to the boiler furnace through a retort, at the bottom of which is a distilling chamber facing the glowing fire on the grate. The gases driven off from the coal discharge into an extraction apparatus alongside the boilers, and the tar, ammoniacal liquors, and other products recovered. This method is said to be more efficient than the separate gas and coking plants. Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Do Men Who Pay Low Prices Expect High Quality?

We've wondered about this before.

Does the man who pays $18.50 expect the equivalent of a $30 suit?

The same buyer wouldn't expect cord tires at the price of fabrics—nor would he expect a store to lose money on any of his purchases.

Cheap clothes are all right if you are out for cheap clothes. Here—we're always out of anything that won't stand up and fight for the man who paid his good money for the merchandise.

HARD TO DECIDE MEANING

Preacher Might Have Had Either One of Two Things in Mind in His Prayer.

Representative John Garner of Texas, says: "One of the stories I like best was told by old Bob Taylor, but I've found that of all the Taylor stories this one is not very well known."

"In the South there was a struggling preacher with a family so large that it took all his meager pay to keep going. And besides that, the children kept coming along. He was very poor."

"One more baby arrived. So the congregation got up what is known in the South as a pounding. The idea is that everybody gives a pound of something to stock up the family food supply. And in addition the congregation got up a purse for the preacher."

Two members of the congregation of a sporting turn of mind, made a bet on the issue of what the preacher next Sunday morning, whether it would be the arrival of his son or whether it would be the gift from the congregation. But when Sunday came they could not decide who had won. The preacher started off the prayer:

"Oh, Almighty God, I thank you for this success."—New York Herald.

Chinese "Devil Drive."

Once in every 12 years the Chinese residents in the little city of Kuching, in the island of Borneo, exert themselves strenuously in a devil drive.

The devil driving is a beautiful affair in magnificent dresses and designs, for the devils are hunted by a great procession of floats carrying beautiful dressed young girls, loaded with gold ornaments and jewels. Other floats are adorned with vicious-looking paper dragons. Scattered throughout the mile-long procession are men carrying silk banners with threatening words written upon them to frighten the devils.

MOSUL NEAR NINEVEH'S SITE

Ancient City on the Tigris Practically Built on the Ruins of Famous Metropolis.

Will the next war be waged on the site of ancient Nineveh? Mosul, on the bank of the Tigris, overlooks the mounds of that ancient city. Mosul means all. England and Turkey seem to have come to grips over Mosul.

At the crossroads of caravan routes from everywhere—Aleppo, Bagdad and Persia, the leaning minaret of Mosul has seen that city wax and wane. It may rise from its ruins of white limestone and become a great city again. For it is the capital of the province in which are oil fields that compare with the richest in the world.

It will not be the first time that the city by the Tigris has come back after being counted out. Nineveh shone for 2,000 years. When it gave up the ghost Mosul, a lusty infant, sprang from the southern suburbs and flourished.

It weathered the storms of many wars. Tamerlane pillaged it. Saladin beat against its walls but failed to subdue the city. It rose to its height in the Twelfth century, when it became an independent capital. The vilayet of Mosul, over which the Turks and British battled in conference, includes 29,000 square miles lying mostly east of the Tigris.

ALWAYS MEN FOR THE AGE

There When Need'd, Whether Born in Log Cabin or Towering Apartment in Big City.

Future Presidents of the United States will be born in apartment houses, and a fond people will have to hallow and bronze-tablet a fourteen-story skyscraper. It will be its own lofty monument.

Long ago we passed the log-cabin stage of historic shrines. The log cabins have been exhausted. Our largest crop of heroes now comes largely from the two-story brick house—Theodore from one of three stories.

But the apartment house is bound to make its way as a cradle for immortals, regardless of the rather severe restrictions against families, large or small. The future great, born in one of these towering hives, will, even at their birth, triumph over the trammels of restrictive regulation of tenant families.

Lowly beginnings seem no longer necessary for genius. There should be no reason why statesmen, scholars, poets and scientists should not make their advent nine stories up. None of the artificialities of our modern civilization will interrupt the gifts of a benign Providence that has never ceased to produce the man for the age.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Improved Disinfectant Soap.

Austria reports a new development in the manufacture of disinfectant soaps, which it is claimed has proved a decided success. The disinfectant used is lactate of silver and a very small amount produces remarkable results. The soap has been used in hospitals for general washing purposes, for sterilizing instruments (it does not contain any corrosive ingredients and hence can be safely used for this purpose), disinfecting clothes, rubber gloves, etc. There are several uses for the new soap in cosmetics. The soap is made by dissolving one part of the silver lactate in fifteen parts of water and then adding enough agaragar, or carrageen moss, to make a jelly. The mixture is then added to the regular soap batch, and the resulting product can be made into solid, paste or liquid. In the solid form it can be used for toilet or laundry purposes. In the paste form it is usable as a dentifrice. In liquid form it may be used as a gargle and mouth wash.—Exchange.

Automatic Steering Gear.

The first American passenger ship to be equipped with automatic steering gear, recently completed a successful return voyage to the West Indies, under the guidance of this apparatus. The instrument, says Popular Mechanics Magazine, consists of a gyroscopic compass arranged to open and close an electric circuit controlling the stopping and starting of the rudder-operating mechanism. The instrument is capable of being set for response to different amounts of deviation from course, one case being noted where the departure from the true course was set as close as one sixth of a degree.

Ptolemy Speaks From the Past.

At Thebes, the ancient capital of upper Egypt, archeologists from Pennsylvania university have found a papyrus, or common language, papyrus that fill a gap in history from B. C. 300 to 246. This period includes the reign of Ptolemy Philadelphus, who was so successful in levying heavy taxes with a minimum of injury and dissatisfaction. As the manuscripts deal mainly with financial affairs, our own Ptolemies may perhaps learn from them how to create in us a nation of cheerful givers.—Scientific American.

HOME BUT NOT BROKE

Thomas Meighan's New Picture Has Interesting Theme.

There's many a man longing to return to his old home town who doesn't because he wouldn't want to come "Back Home and Broke," as expressed in the title of Thomas Meighan's new Paramount picture, at the State theater tonight and Saturday. "Tom" returns to the old town, and he goes through all the embarrassment and humiliation of a man coming back a failure. The strange part of it is that he isn't a failure. You doubtless wonder why instead of going back with a big splash he allows the towns people to believe that he has been unsuccessful. The reason is too good to spoil in the telling, and anyway, the situation must be seen to be appreciated. It provokes many spasms of laughter.

The story is an original George Ade tale, written especially for Mr. Meighan by the well known humorist. Lila Lee, many times leading woman for Wallace Reid, plays opposite Mr. Meighan, with whom she appeared in "The Prince Chap" and "The Easy Road." She heads a strong cast. Alfred Green, who has handled three former Meighan productions, was the director. 100h

Mrs. Mae Davis, divorced wife of a San Francisco theatrical man, shot Mrs. Elizabeth Britten, sister of Congressman Frederick A. Britten of Illinois, during a quarrel in Mrs. Britten's San Francisco apartment over a debt of $500 owed by Mrs. Davis to Mrs. Britten's mother, Mrs. Charles Pease. ## ACTIVITIES IN VETS POSTS

AMERICAN LEGION

Plans have been completed for a rousing time Monday night when R. L. Hutcheson's "blues" set up the "eats" to the victorious "red" team led by James Bullard. The "reds" took over the "blues" in the membership contest recently concluded by the Charles H. Carey post and the "red" team will be on hand with an immense appetite.

Hutcheson has announced that the committee aiding him in the "blow-out" Monday night will be Frank Griffen, Lee Lanpher and Carl Flickinger. Major Bullard has formally announced that the entire membership of the "red" team will be on hand with an immense appetite.

The Legion posts in the county are celebrating Americanization day today. The local post will observe this day Monday.

Posts throughout the county are making a survey as to the number of foreign born and naturalized citizens. Charles H. Carey post conducts classes two nights each week. The musical committee of the post has reported that a large number of tickets have been sold for the concert to be given May 8 at the High school auditorium by J. William Ellison and Ernest Truxell.

VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS

Plans for the annual Memorial day observance will be the subject at the next meeting of Allen Reynolds post. The post postponed its regular weekly meeting this week because of the concert by the Rhonda Welsh singers.

The committee in charge of concert has received considerable praise for the nature of the entertainment presented by the famous Welsh chorus. While the attendance was small, these music lovers present have expressed their appreciation of the Veterans efforts in obtaining such a high class entertainment to send a large delegation to the annual encampment of county posts to be held in East Palestine this year. The field days will be held at the fair grounds. The first of these encampments was held at the county fair grounds in Lisbon last year and was a decided success.

Plans for the reception to Prescott post G. A. R. will be completed by the Veterans at the next meeting. All members of the post will be made honorary members of Allen Reynolds post at this reception.

Exercise and Change.

"So you've seen the doctor."

"Yes, and he ordered me to go up and down the front stairs for an hour in the forenoon and up and down the back stairs for an hour in the afternoon."

"Why the back stairs?"

"Oh, just for a change of climb it!"

Frogs in lots of 3,000 or 4,000 are taken from the country to Vienna dealers, who have conservatories for them.

LUMBER HARVEST IN STATE IS 247 MILLION BOARD FT.

The lumber cut of Ohio was 247,400,000 board feet in 1929, taken from the state's 3,200,000 acres of native forest and not including posts, poles, firewood and the cut of many small portable saw mills, according to Edmund Sechrist, state forester.

It may be noted, Mr. Sechrist continues, that against the annual lumber cut which approximates that of 1929, we are growing each year about 40 board feet of timber per acre, or 127,000,000 feet for the total forest area of the state.

Investigations show that the annual production by growth of timber in Ohio's woodlands can be increased from 40 to 150 board feet per acre by treating the timber as a crop, and the woods where it is grown as a crop producing unit, rather than waste land or inferior pasture.

Simple improvement methods will increase four times the production by growth of timber in over 50 per cent of the farm woodlots of Ohio. It would raise the total annual growth from 127,000,000 to 500,000,000 board feet, which is the amount now consumed on the farms of Ohio and a little under one-half that consumed by the state.

Grazing by livestock is doing more to destroy farm woods than any other factor. Proper cutting of timber for market and the removal of inferior trees, so as to promote the development of those of greater lumber value, and the natural seedling of open spaces in woods to valuable species can follow after livestock is excluded.

The development of a native woods properly protected and managed will give surprising results, and will save many millions of dollars. Nature can plant trees cheaper than man.

GOVERNOR VETOES FIVE MORE BILLS

a result of the governor's disapproval of bills by Representatives Spindel, Monahan, and Ziegenfuss, Miami, and Sen. Clark of Champlain. The governor also vetoed the Walter bill, relative to clearing titles of property of descendants in counties of which they are non-residents, and the Hill bill, authorizing the construction of an improved highway through the Carpenter experiment farm in Meigs county.

Three other canal bills by Representatives Wise and Davidson, Summit county, were approved by the governor today. Two of the bills by Representative Wise authorized the state to lease to Akron certain privileges relative to Summit lake for bathing and dock purposes.

L. also authorizes the state to sell at private sale to abutting land owners certain canal lands in Akron and provides for the cancellation of a lease for these canal lands. The Davidson bill grants to the city of Barberton the use of certain waters and lands of the state for waterway and park purposes.

Hospital Notes

Arthur Meeks, East Palestine, was operated upon at Salem City Hospital Friday morning. The operation was quite serious and the patient was reported to be getting along favorably Friday afternoon.

Moist and Dry Air.

Dry air is slightly heavier than ordinary humid—not foggy air. The number of molecules in a given volume of air and the same volume of water in the form of invisible gas under the same conditions is the same. When such water molecules are introduced into the dry air a corresponding number of air molecules are displaced. The atomic weights of nitrogen, the principal ingredients of air, are greater than the atomic weight of water vapor. Therefore since a light substance replaces a heavier one the total weight is less. Foggy or smoky air is quite likely to be heavier than dry air.

WITH KIPLING IN VERMONT

Famous Writer Enjoyed the Deep
Snow and the Society of His Farmhand Companions.

The recent heavy snows in Vermont recall to a correspondent of the Springfield Republican the big snows of 1895-96 in which Kipling delighted. "This was the winter in which Rudyard Kipling found so much recreation and sport in helping the farmhands 'plow out' and when he was often seen in town on a sled to which two plows were attached and one and often two pairs of horses furnished motive power. The busy author was a real sport and liked nothing better than to challenge the elements in his goshes and long-legged stockings when he dived into the deepest snowdrifts, wallowing through until he looked more like a man of snow than a human being. Kipling in his associations with the farmers and the hired man never let any droll expression or action pass his notice. He would, in order not to forget it, dive into his pockets for a bit of paper and a pencil and quickly jot down unique expressions and funny sayings of his plow companions, and nobody can tell how many of these odd remarks found use in his many folklore stories."

COMBINES PROFIT AND SPORT

Maine Man Has Found That Hedgehog Hunting Has Two Sides to It, Both Good.

A man in Maine has found hedgehog hunting to be a profitable business, as well as one that has an element of danger, and therefore offers excitement in excess of that which comes to a rabbit fox hunter, writes Sam E. Conner, in Popular Mechanics Magazine. While it is not generally known, there is a steady demand for these ugly-looking creatures from all sections of America and Europe. They are desired for zoos and menageries, both private and public, and country fair and street vendors, who use them to aid in selling preparations, disposed of under the name of hedgehog oil, hedgehog liniment, and like titles.

The trapping is all done in the summer and at night. There is no better hunting ground than an apple orchard. The outfit consists of a long pole to dislodge the hedgehog from the apple tree, and an old washbowl.

Elusive Street Sounds.

It was in Rue Montmartre I heard it, and the sound of it could not have surprised me more had it been the note of the nightingale or the song of the lark. It was at the busiest part of the day I heard it, in the gloom of the late winter afternoon when the lights in the shop windows are lit and the street lamps begin to twinkle in the evening mist.

In the narrow thoroughfare the motor omnibuses were throbbing, thundering in the early throes of the city's homeward rush, taxicabs were bustling, buzzing in an almost ceaseless stream, motor horns were sounding in discordant chorus, heavy drays were rumbling, clanking, with the clipp-clap of the hoofs of heavy horses, raucous voices were shouting the evening papers. The pavement was a torrent of human kind, two torrents, in fact that battled in opposite directions, and the human units had to struggle to keep their course on the narrow footway. It was then I heard it, amid the jostling and the tumult, above the din of the motor omnibuses, taxicabs and heavy drays, in this, the paroxysmal climax of the city's busy day—the sound of a long-drawn lovers' kiss.—G. H., in Continental Edition of London Mail.

Vitamins in Fruits.

Distinctively oriental fruits, most of which are never seen in western markets, have been found to be well supplied with vitamin C, the preventive of scurvy, according to the results of researches by Hartly Embrey of the Union Medical college, Peking, recently published in the Philippine Journal of Science. The fruits and vegetables which were found to have anti-scorbutic properties were the chico, papaya, pomelo, guava, lansones, both fruit and flower buds of the banana, coconut, papiao or cucumber, kang-kang leaves, and camote leaves. The Chinese persimmon was also found effective.

Safe Offer.

Bilkins had no love for his wife's little pet dog, but one day when it mysteriously disappeared he offered $25 reward for its recovery.

"But I thought," said a friend, "you hated that dog like poison?"
"So I did," replied Bilkins; "I could not bear it!"
"Then why on earth did you offer such a big reward for its return?"
"I like to please my wife."
"Well, that may be, but $25 is sure to bring that dog back!"
"I think not," answered Bilkins, "unless some one saw me bury it in the garden."—The Congregationalist.

Attention To Poultry Means Increase In Egg Production

A lot of attention is being given to poultry husbandry in Columbiana county with the result that egg production is being increased. System is being followed by all those who have filed their March egg production records with the County Farm Bureau and this survey shows that a woman with a small flock attained a higher average in production than a score of other competitors.

Mrs. J. E. Rice, residing in Hephner Hollow, Center township, looks after a flock of 39 hens, and during March she gathered 959 eggs, or an average of 42.3 eggs per hen for the month. There are others who have had a good production from larger flocks, but for the number of hens, Mrs. Rice secured a production exceeding all competitors in the record test.

While the record of Mrs. Rice is one phase of the activity of poultry husbandry in this county, it is now disclosed that 18 poultry keepers in the county during March, maintaining combined flocks of 3,675 hens, gathered 837 eggs, equal to 2,991 cases of 30 dozen eggs each, or enough cases to fill five freight cars averaging 400 cases each.

While this egg production record has to do with only 18 poultry keepers, it is reasonable to believe that when all the back yard flocks of poultry are taken into consideration, and those of the farms of the county, the egg production in the county during March has been conservatively estimated at over 10,000 cases of 20 dozen per case.

Egg producers in this county are concerned in three phases of the egg business. In an ordinary year there is a rather wide distribution of this county egg production through ordinary channels, that of retail delivery and in a wholesale way to retail stores. There is also considerable shipping of Columbiana county eggs to the Cleveland and Pittsburgh markets for retail purposes.

But there are many others associated with the poultry industry in this county who "go in" for blooded stock, and the egg production from this stock is sold for hatching purposes at from $11.50 to $5 per setting of 15 eggs, or domestic hatching when the chicks are sold as high as $1 per chick.

FARM PROGRESS IN OUR ISLANDS

UNCLE SAM PROMOTES AGRICULTURE IN "NON-CONTIGUOUS POSSESSIONS."

GUAM MAKES RAPID ADVANCES

Commander Leary, First American Governor, Started Things There by Discouraging Cock-Fighting—How That "Sport" Is Yielding to Baseball.

By EDWARD B. CLARK
Washington.—Agriculture in the continental United States held directly and indirectly the attention of congress for a large part of its recent session. It occupies the attention through all the years of a great department of the government, but Uncle Sam also, knowing that agriculture is the basis of all living and good things generally, takes a deep interest in the agricultural problems of his non-contiguous territories.

The Philippines, Porto Rico, Guam, and the rest are called non-contiguous territories not only because they are non-contiguous but because the spirit of the republic seemingly revolts against the thought of speaking of places which came under the American flag as results of war as colonies or even as possessions.

Whatever they are called, the interest in them, and especially the agricultural interest in them, holds American official attention. The Philippines in a way look after their own affairs under the gentle direction of a governor general and of an island legislature. Agriculture and forestry in the Philippines are of immense importance, and the progress of development is watched with the highest interest in Washington.

Then there is Guam, and Guam is in a sea niche by itself. Guam always was interesting and probably always will continue to be interesting, "because it is so different." The reports on agriculture from Guam show that things have advanced very much in what someone has called the "Comic Opera Island."

Gov. Leary's First Orders.
Things have changed in Guam since the day that Commander Leary of the United States navy went there as the first American governor. An agricultural report of the United States government which was issued shortly after the commander took charge of things paid considerable attention to the old sea dog's orders to the inhabitants of the new holding in the Pacific.

The American sailor-governor found out that while the natives of Guam raised chickens, almost their entire attention was paid to the raising of game chickens, for cock fighting was the great native sport. What was known as Household Order No. 2 was issued from the first American governor's headquarters almost immediately after he assumed his office. He ordered that every native family should raise chickens for the market and for the household pot, and that attention should be turned away from raising them for the cock-pit.

Commander Leary also started the natives on a right crop-raising road. He had plowed the seas all his life, but he taught the Guamanians how to plow the fields, and the results have shown that the lessons were to their everlasting benefit.

In every island which has come under Uncle Sam's control or influence within the last twenty-five years attempts have been made to stop cock-fighting. The sport has not actually been forbidden except in a few of the cities and villages of our island holdings. Moral suasion was depended upon for a long time, but moral suasion moved Uncle Sam's wards about as rapidly as it could move mountains.

Baseball Displacing Cock-Fighting.
Finally baseball was introduced as a sport, and today cock-fighting rapidly is passing. Baseball is an uplifting agency and is said by government officials to have no equal. Every sport lover knows what a hold the game has taken on the island of Cuba, which while not being a possession of the United States has to a considerable extent fallen under Uncle Sam's influence. It is said that today there is only one cock-fight in the little republic where a quarter of a century ago there were three.

In Porto Rico the game strain of the chickens has been changed for a strain of market egg layers, broilers and roasters. In the Philippines baseball has routed the cock-pit in virtually every place which is under daily American influence, and the national game is fast making its way back into the interior of the islands. Even the Moros are said to know the secrets of curved ball pitching and of home-run slugging.

In the Panama Canal zone there is no cock-fighting today, although there used to be much of it. This must not be understood as meaning that the pastime has disappeared from the cities of Panama and Colon which, while within the zone, are outside of the control of the United States except in matters of sanitary regulations. There are cock-fights every Sunday afternoon in both of these cities.

CENTENARY OF THE MONROE DOCTRINE

FAMOUS PRONOUNCEMENT WAS LAID BEFORE CONGRESS IN DECEMBER, 1823.

EVENT IS TO BE CELEBRATED

Los Angeles Will Have an Exposition to Commemorate the Signing of the Document — Circumstances That Gave Rise to the Doctrine.

Washington.—This is the Monroe doctrine's "Year of a Hundred Years." It was a century ago that James Monroe formulated the doctrine which has been accepted as a sort of spiritual law by the American people, and which today is forming one of the big subjects in the council of the representatives of Pan-American countries assembled in convention in Chile.

Long Beach, Calif.—Albert Reese, life saver who has rescued 735 people from the water, states that women meet death more bravely than men as he has found from personal experience. He also says that women nearly always remember to keep their heads and not struggle when being rescued.

There is a quiet family hotel on Capitol Hill, the upper part of which rests on the foundations and lower walls of a great residence built in the year 1798 by a man named Law. James Monroe was a frequent visitor in the Law household and it was there that he had conferences with several of his cabinet officers and notably with Albert Gallatin, who later was minister to France during a part of the Monroe administration.

Story of the Doctrine. Presumably the reasons for the pronouncement of Monroe are well known to the American people, but a short summary of the affairs at that time may not be out of place.

James Monroe believed that it was his duty to make a pronouncement the effect of which would be to prevent interference by European powers in the affairs of the several American states. The vital part of the Monroe doctrine is to be found in these words: "The American continents should no longer be subjects for any European colonial settlement."

As popularly understood, the Monroe doctrine meant a political protection and a guarantee of freedom from European interference to all states of North and South America.

Gallatin's Diary Enlightening. It was while sitting in a room of the little hotel in which Monroe once discussed the preliminaries of his great doctrine that the writer of this article read recently the diary of James Gallatin, who was the son of Albert Gallatin, one time secretary of the United States treasury, later one of the commissioners to the Ghent conference, out of which came the treaty of peace between the United States and Great Britain which brought an end to the War of 1812, and later still James Monroe's minister to France in the days of Louis XVIII after Napoleon had been exiled to St. Helena.

James Gallatin, who wrote the diary, was his father's secretary and when he died in 1875 he gave the diary to his grandson with instructions that it should ever be printed it should not appear for a good many years.

The diary has been printed and it is an enlightening human document. It gives personal glimpses of Monroe, John Quincy Adams, Henry Clay and other American statesmen of the time, which are of exceeding interest. Reading this diary in a room which may once have been occupied temporarily by Monroe and Gallatin while in conference, one was able to make the present almost as the past.

James Monroe left the presidency a poor man. After leaving the presidency he lived a part of the time in Virginia and a part of the time in New York City. The house in which he died in New York is still standing, and there is a movement today to restore and preserve it.

Woman in Politics. Mrs. Benham—How many days are the polls open? Benham—Why, only one, of course. Mrs. Benham—That's no way to run an election. Benham—Why not? Mrs. Benham—Suppose a woman changes her mind after voting and wants to correct her vote?

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Physician's Discovery Safely Reduces It To Normal and Dizzy Spells Disappear

If your blood pressure is too high you cannot pass a life insurance examination.

Perhaps you don't know whether you have this trouble or not, but if you have occasional dizzy spells, shortness of breath, pains in the head, hot flashes, are nervous, moody or don't sleep well, your blood pressure is probably higher than it ought to be even if you don't realize it.

Norma, the prescription of a Buffalo physician, reduces high blood pressure and when this result is accomplished all the ailments caused by this abnormal condition will quickly disappear. Bennett's drug store and reliable druggists everywhere have a steady demand for NORMA—it is purely vegetable and contains nothing harmful.

Long Beach, Calif.—Albert Reese, life saver who has rescued 735 people from the water, states that women meet death more bravely than men as he has found from personal experience. He also says that women nearly always remember to keep their heads and not struggle when being rescued.

Make somebody's birthday happy

Says Betty Butterfly

Somebody's birthday comes this month. Is it your sweetheart? Is it your wife's or one of the kiddies? Wasn't I born this month? A growing plant or a bouquet of fresh cut blossoms will make some one happy.

GEORGETOWN

Kathleen, the little two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Summers, was the victim of a painful accident last Friday. Mrs. Summers was pouring some hot water from a wash boiler into a tub, when one end of the boiler slipped and the hot water was spilled over little Kathleen who was standing near by. An Alliance doctor was called and dressed the injuries and although the little child was in a critical condition for several days she is now doing well.

Mr. and Mrs. Lofton Chapman of Charleston, W. Va., were guests of Mrs. Esther Ruff, part of last week. Miss Edith Greenstein of Alliance, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wang Saturday night and Sunday. The drama, "In the Shadow of the Rockies," is being rehearsed by local talent and will be given for the last number of the lyceum course. The date of its presentation will be announced in the near future.

Mrs. Sam Wang is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wang of Alliance. Mrs. Joseph Her died at the family home east of this village last Saturday from the infirmities of age. She would have been 78 years of age on May 1. She is survived by her husband and three children, Mrs. Martin Amon and Thomas E. Her of this vicinity, and Mrs. James Holly of Long Beach, Calif. One brother, Thomas Shively, this place who is critically ill, also survives. Funeral service was held at the Brethren church Tuesday afternoon in charge of Rev. A. Byers of Canton. Interment in the local cemetery.

Funeral service for Mrs. Mary Fryfogle, late of Louisville, was held at the Lutheran church Saturday afternoon in charge of Rev. H. N. Thompson assisted by Rev. W. H. Naffziger of Alliance. A mixed quart sang "Home at Last," "Why Will He Done," "Waiting," and "Nearer My God to Thee." There were many beautiful floral offerings. Interment was in the cemetery on the hill.

Contribution boxes for churches are an American idea, funds being secured in churches of early colonial days by passing around a warming pan.

BUSINESS GROWTH SHOWN BY TAXES

Federal Collections For March Over The Half Billion Mark.

Washington, April 27.—An upward trend of general business in the opinion of treasury officials, is shown definitely in detailed statistics on gross federal tax collections for March, which places the total for the month at $532,542,000. While some specific items show a reduction in returns as compared with March, 1922, officials regard the analysis of payments as giving evidence through generally increased returns from the various tax sources of a healthier national business state.

Proof of a more liberal spending the country over is shown, as the officials view the situation, in the increase in manufacturers' excise taxes on automobiles and accessories from which in March the treasury received $12,173,000, or $5,100,000 more than in March 1922. There also was a marked increase reported in the tax on capital stock of corporations from which was derived $778,000, an indication, it was said, of expansion in the industrial program. The tax is small and an increase of about $150,000 as reported, was declared to represent important developments in capital stock additions.

Tobacco taxes afforded observers another evidence, it was said, of greater use by most of the public of the current buying power, taxes on this commodity aggregating $25,657,000.

600 in March as against $21,427,000 for the corresponding month a year ago. The principal increase in the aggregate amount came from larger taxes on cigars, which yielded a total for the month of $15,130,000. Cigar taxes netted the treasury $3,849,000 and chewing and smoking tobacco about $5,000,000.

Documentary stamp sales for the month were reported at $3,849,000, almost $400,000 greater than for March last year and also greater by about $50,000 than in February. There has been a generally larger sale of stamps each month in the last year as compared with previous months except for one or two periods when small declines were recorded. Theater admission taxes brought in $6,700,000 in March as compared with $6,284,900 in the same month a year ago.

Save More Baby Chicks This Year

The very surest way you can save more baby chicks this year is to use the right starting feed. Ordinary grain feeds and home mixed rations kill countless chicks every year. How often you hear the expression "I had bad luck with my chicks. So many of them died." In most cases the trouble is in the starting feed. Make up your mind to save more baby chicks.

Purina Chicken Chowder and Purina Baby Chick Chow

fill every requirement of a perfect feed for baby chicks. With Purina Poultry Chows you can give your chicks a double start.

Double development or money back is the guarantee if, when fed as directed, these two Chows do not produce double growth over ordinary grain feeds the first six weeks.

Order these Chows now before your chicks become stunted for lack of proper nourishment.
